

Core competency

MMG is your global magnetic force

MMG is your worldwide source for the design, development and manufacturing of standard and custom magnetic materials, including soft ferrites, permanent magnets and iron powder used to construct components for computer, telecommunications, industrial, consumer, medical, automotive and defense electronics applications. With ISO-certified manufacturing facilities in North America and Asia as well as worldwide application engineering and sales logistics centers, MMG is positioned to support customers on a global basis with all their magnetic materials requirements.

More than just a component supplier, MMG has focused our company to respond quickly to customer demands, provide enhanced technical support and customer service, and to be a resource for your most challenging design issues in magnetics technology, with industry-leading engineering assistance, application expertise and manufacturing capability available for our customers around the world.

For more information on our comprehensive range of magnetic materials & components, please contact us at:

MMG Canada
10 Vansco Road
Toronto, ON M8Z 5J4

Phone: 416-251-2831
Fax: 416-251-6790
email: sales@mmgca.com
www.mmgca.com